

Mr Jerry Mameja

Jerry Mameja was educated at the University of Stellenbosch in South Africa and holds a BA in Economics and Industrial Psychology and a Master of Philosophy in Economic Policy. He is currently overseeing and managing the Mapilelo Project in the Caprivi Region of Namibia that aims to prevent mother-to-child transmission of HIV/AIDS and provide HAART services.

Jerry also oversees a team of experts implementing the Global Fund Programme in Namibia. His key competencies include the management of integrated community based treatment support programmes, institutional strengthening and provision of technical support to strengthen governmental, non-governmental structures and corporate partners, project design and appraisal and programme review and analysis.

He has published a number of materials on these subjects. Jerry, is a member of the International AIDS Society and brings to the STFTAP a wealth of international experience in research, design and management.