

Dr Tshibola Ndalambo Kanku

Tshibola is a medical doctor. He is employed by Global Fund Namibia as a medical officer.

Tshibola's responsibilities include clinical and laboratory monitoring of HIV patients and management of opportunistic infections. He also coordinates research, trains HBC care givers, supervises clinic and health centres and is mentor to newly employed doctors and nurses.

Tshibola has written a qualitative research thesis titled, "Factors influencing utilization of home based care services by the community of Caprivi".

He is member of various medical associations. The combination of his strong public health background with mentoring and training skills makes his contributions important to the STFTAP.
